

For Immediate Release
Contact: Rachel Lin, 770-300-4700, rlin@corus360.com

Corus360 and ACS MediHealth Announce Strategic Partnership

Companies join forces to serve the Healthcare Technology Industry

ATLANTA, GA (December 2012) – Corus360, a technology consulting and solutions firm in Norcross, GA, is pleased to announce their new strategic partnership with ACS MediHealth, a Healthcare Technology Solutions provider.

This partnership will bring innovative solutions that fulfill healthcare information technology needs as well as Disaster Recovery planning and business continuity. ACS MediHealth and Corus360 are joining forces to provide effective technology solutions designed to assist these providers with their Disaster Recovery Planning, data storage and technology platforms.

The power of data and its growth have become exponential in today's world. The lack of adequate recovery strategies for systems, data and people will prevent an organization from performing its necessary business functions. In the Healthcare industry, hospitals, long term care facilities and physicians' offices cannot afford the loss of data, systems and their people. As IT systems have become increasingly critical to the operation of an organization, the importance of ensuring the continued operation of these systems and their recovery has increased.

"Partnering with Corus360, who has been in the Disaster Recovery, planning and procedures industry for 10 years, will allow ACS MediHealth to have a partner that truly understands the complexity our clients are facing in the coming months. This will allow ACS MediHealth to offer a competitive offering as well as help our clients meet their regulatory compliance initiatives over the next several years," said David Dean, President of ACS MediHealth. "What impresses me about Corus360 is their ability to respond quickly to a disaster stricken area as well as their ability to support sites at their facility so our clients can be up and running at all times, even in the event of an emergency."

"Our Partnership with ACS MediHealth, a Healthcare IT Solutions Provider with 26 years of tenure, allows Corus360 to walk into a relationship with a trusted advisor. This partnership will help organizations with their regulatory compliance and disaster recovery initiatives through innovative solutions that will help drive costs down," said Steve Johnson, President of Corus360. "With the fast-paced growth of technology and the demand of the healthcare industry for organizations to be up and running all the time, it is important for healthcare providers to find a way to offer their customers not only the most efficient and reliable service, but service that is always responsive as well."

About Corus360

Corus360 is a technology consulting and solutions company with more than 10 years of success delivering infrastructure solutions, recovery and consulting services that help organizations reduce costs, increase efficiencies and maximize productivity. We specialize in best of breed infrastructure solutions, IT management consulting, Data Center technologies, IT Staffing, disaster recovery, managed services and enterprise applications. For more information, visit www.corus360.com.

ACS MediHealth

ACS MediHealth provides healthcare technology and services that address the diverse needs of a number of healthcare roles. Committed to bringing innovative solutions that fulfill healthcare information technology needs, ACS MediHealth's solutions make hospitals, long-term care facilities and physicians' offices more efficient, improving the quality of care and the patient experience. With a seasoned team of healthcare technology veterans, ACS MediHealth takes a consultative approach to solving clinical application problems, working with clients to exceed the goals of their institution. For more information, visit www.acsmedihealth.com.

###